CHIANG MAY QUIT OUTPOST ON MATSU

SILVANUS AND LAURA BROWNING, of Los Angeles, are shown during the celebration of their 60th wedding anniversary. Silvanus, 84, played the violin, while Laura, 78, accompanied him on the piano as they sang a duet of old time songs. Their advice to young couples was to "mix music with your marriage."

'Quit Acting Like Adults,' Student Leader Says To Fellow Pupils In School Struck By Teachers

IRVING, Tex. (AP)—About half the school teachers in this boom town have walked out in a fuss with the school board.

Some of the students seem pretty concerned about it. For instance, Don Shelby, 18, president of the Student Council, told the senior class to "quit acting like adults," to quit arguing or taking sides and to stay in school and act like students.

But the corner drug store near the high school said business was booming. Nearly everybody was dropping by to have a cold drink and to discuss the hot situation.

Substitute teachers, mamas, papas, and big brothers have jumped in to keep buses rolling and classes going since the Monday walkout.

Students who have stayed in school during the five days of the walkout said operations were normal and smooth. Students who stayed away said things were not normal and far from smooth.

The controversy reached the walkout stage when the school board fired Supt. John L. Beard. Teachers said this climaxed "intolerable situations."

Some said it involved last summer's governor's campaign when some teachers threw several precincts to the support of unsuccessful Ralph Yarborough.

They were going to stay out, they added, until the intolerable conditions were changed.

The school board said Dr. Beard, 53, was fired because he would not cooperate. It said teachers who stayed away from school were "out" just like nine principals and executives, fired for "instigating the walkout."

The teachers could come back, the board added, if they individually returned and asked for reinstatement. Beard, whose contract had two years to run, has appealed his case to the state education commissioner.

But the students...

"Things are getting along fine, just fine," said Frances Spinson, 17, a high school junior, who has not missed a class. She said she liked very much the two new teachers hired to replace two who walked out. Some students disagreed.

"I'm not learning anything," said Vera Anderson, 12, a seventh grader. So I stayed away from school today. Those mothers who took over the class room aren't attempting to teach anything. The lunchroom is closed and I paid 30 cents for one sandwich and a glass of milk in a temporary lunchroom. They've got policemen up there and they won't hardly let you leave the room."

Police have guarded the school since the trouble first started—to prevent possible violence, they say.

Formosa Press Hints Strongly Of New Move

Nationalists And U.S. Holding Parley; Joint Command May Be Used

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist China and the United States went on with top military talks today amid intense speculation in the Chinese press that the Nationalists might be quitting their Matsu Island outposts.

There was no confirmation that Chiang Kai-shek's garrisons would leave the Matsus, 100 miles across the Formosa Strait from the northern tip of this national island stronghold, but security considerations might blank out any news on that score.

The Matsu Island group is only 20 miles off the mainland.

A Red flotilla of 40 gunboats and armed junks staged a brief attack against one of the smaller Matsu islands yesterday. There was no indication it was anything more than a hit and run raid.

The Tachen Islands, 200 miles northwest of Formosa, were evacuated by the Nationalists under the protection of the U.S. 7th Fleet without a shot being fired in early February. The Nationalists later quit Nanchishan, 140 miles northwest of here.

Top level talks proceeded in downtown Taipei.

Newspapers here speculated that one of the items being discussed was the creation of a joint Nationalist-U.S. defense command in this area.

Among those taking part in the talks were Adm. Robert B. Carney, U.S. chief of naval operations; Adm. Felix B. Stump, commander of the Pacific Fleet; Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, commander of the 7th Fleet; and Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, head of the Military Assistance Advisory Group.

Nationalist quarters appeared confident of a big boost in the volume of American military aid to Formosa.

The treaty made the two countries formal allies in the defense of Formosa, the Pescadores and American island territories in the West Pacific.

IT WAS generally assumed that the United States would build up the strength of Chiang Kai-shek's armed forces to enable them to contribute as much as possible to the defense of Formosa if the Reds attack.

Admiral Carney said the Nationalist-American military talks here had identified the problems involved in combined action, if necessary, in defense of the area.

The admiral said the primary purpose of his visit was to discuss the problem that would arise in case of action implementing the mutual defense treaty, which provide for American defense of Formosa and the Pescadores.

He had discussed these problems with Stump, Pride, Chase and the Nationalist defense ministry.

Baroness Says Takers Few On Sale Of Title

CHICAGO (AP)—The American market for European titles seems to be slow these days.

Take the case of Lina von Lamezan, who has offered to sell the title of baroness.

She ran a series of notices, the first one nine days ago, in the personal column of a newspaper.

There has been no sale thus far. But she has received an armload of letters, a copy of a religious poem, a bouquet and a song dedicated to her and entitled "The Baroness Waltz."

Mrs. Von Lamezan, a childless widow, is 81 and lives in a time-worn, stove-heated cottage on Chicago's northwest side.

She said that most of the letter writers were people who had some interest but only modest means.

"Some look good," she said. "I'll have to write to them."

Mrs. Von Lamezan explains that she does not have a simple sale in mind. In return for an unspecified sum of money, she says, she will adopt a suitable person who wants to share the title now and inherit it after her death.

She also says she came by the title through marriage in 1926 in Chicago to Baron Franz von Lamezan, who died about five years ago at his family's home in Freiburg, Germany.

2 Rivers Of Molten Lava Inch Past Village To Sea

PAHOA, Hawaii (AP)—Two rivers of lava, fed by two half-mile-long fissures and lava fountains belching 500 feet in the air, moved closer to the sea today, leaving in their wake an estimated $2 million damage.

Cane fields, timber and at least nine homes were buried in steaming lava. A village of 70 homes was a ghost town, virtually isolated by the molten rivers.

The lava flows may reach the sea today.

This sparsely settled Puna district of eastern Hawaii is about half the size of Manhattan. For five days it has rocked and cracked under the strains of volcanic eruptions and earthquakes. Four hundred of its residents are homeless.

The steaming lava streams cut a two-mile-wide swath across the rich cane land for four miles.

Twenty square miles of the district, on the gentle slopes of Kilaua, is forbidden to all except civil defense officials and a few property owners. The area is studied with large earth cracks.

KAPOHO, evacuated Monday, will be cut off once the lava streams pouring around it plunge into the sea, about a mile away.

The tiny village lost at least five houses Thursday to the lava flow. Most homes were not damaged but, isolated by lava fields, they will be worthless.

Lava flows take months and sometimes years to cool. One property owner said "you couldn't bulldoze your way through it in 50 years."

Much of the cane acreage which provided a living for the residents was under 10 feet of smoking lava.

A few property owners worked their way back along the crackling lava flows to Kapoho yesterday morning. They said they found three dogs fast asleep on porches.

In the center of the town the only damage noted was three cracks in the main road.

Ohio River Creeps Above Flood Stage

By The Associated Press

New rains sent the level of the Ohio River above flood stage at points from East Liverpool to Cincinnati today and more rain is expected.

The weather bureau in Columbus said showers this morning probably will be followed by rains tonight or early tomorrow as a new frontal system crosses Ohio from the west.

Showers in eastern Ohio, Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia last night dumped more water into the already swollen Ohio. Families were being moved from low areas in East Liverpool, Stratton, Empire and Port Homer, Ohio, and at Midland, Pa., and New Cumberland, W. Va. At Cincinnati the Red Cross said shelter had been furnished to 114 persons in 29 families.

Two inches of rain fell in the Wheeling area. Nearly an inch was dropped on much of Western Pennsylvania. The Monongahela and Allegheny rivers, which merge to form the Ohio, were near flood stage.

As the river rises, here are anticipated levels and flood stage levels at various points:

Pittsburgh, flood stage 25 feet, crest of 28 feet expected today.

Wheeling, flood stage 36 feet, crest of 38-39 feet expected today.

Cincinnati, flood stage 52 feet, crest of 56.5 by tonight. The river was at 55.6 feet early today.

Priests Get Order To Rap Divorcees

CINCINNATI (AP)—Roman Catholic priests in the Cincinnati archdiocese will preach tomorrow of the "sinfulness of keeping company" with divorced persons.

Archbishop Karl J. Alter directed the priests to discuss the subject in their sermons and parish bulletins.

"Company keeping by or with a divorced person, Catholic or non-Catholic is forbidden," the priests were reminded. "Any Catholic who violates this law of God is not a fit subject for the reception of the Sacraments until he resolves to break such association and to amend his life in this regard."

Woman Robber Sent To Prison

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Agnes Eloise Osborne, 27, of Medina pleaded guilty to attempting a bank robbery and was sentenced in federal court yesterday to five years in prison.

She was arrested the day after an attempted robbery Nov. 29 at the Commercial & Savings Bank branch in nearby Strongsville.

Humane Officer Reminds Dog Owners Here

Wallace Says Most Observe Law, But Others Ignore It

Pickaway County Humane Officer Ralph Wallace reminded dog owners again today that the city's "Summer crackdown" on stray dogs went into effect the first of this month.

Under city ordinance, restrictions on Circleville's loose dogs automatically tighten on March 1 and relax again each Fall. Wallace has made a futile attempt to have the tight restrictions made year-long, contending that plan would eventually prove easier for all concerned.

Pointing out that the law at this time of year provides fines for the owners of dogs found roaming in the city, Wallace said:

"Most of the dog owners, of course, are perfectly willing to abide by the ordinance—but they have to be reminded about it each Springtime. And then too, there are always some who do not care about others, and who consequently ignore the law."

"BEFORE SO very long now, it will be necessary again to draw the line between these two groups. And for that reason I'd like to remind all the dog owners that they can be penalized for leaving their pets run loose during the Summer."

"And for purposes of the law, the Summer deadline is here now. It arrived on March 1."

Wallace said he could note throughout the city that "many people have already taken steps to keep their dogs at home during the Summer," while others "just haven't paid a bit of attention."

The county's humane officer stressed that it is far from a happy task to have dog owners ordered into city court for deliberate violations.

"I certainly don't get a kick out of it," he explained, "but it's the law and I have the responsibility of enforcing it. I feel the law as it now stands—on again, off again—is actually more difficult for all of us. But as long as the public wants it this way—that's the way it has to be."

The witness, President Edward T. McCormick of the American Stock Exchange, said those who followed a tip from Winchell and bought shares of Amurex Oil in 1953 lost more than $2 million in less than an hour and a half.

McCormick also told the committee, which is studying the bull market on stock exchanges, that speculators swamped his exchange with orders for stock in Pantepec Oil Co., a Venezuelan firm, following another Winchell tip two months ago.

AGAIN THE tip-followers wound up losing money and would have lost much more if the exchange

Probers Check On 'Killings' Made On Stock Mart Tips

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators disclosed today they are looking into about 20 instances in which big stock market "killings" may have been made through the spreading of rumors.

This word came from Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark) of the Senate Banking Committee following testimony yesterday that tips given by Walter Winchell on his television show have caused sharp market fluctuations.

The witness, President Edward T. McCormick of the American Stock Exchange, said those who followed a tip from Winchell and bought shares of Amurex Oil in 1953 lost more than $2 million in less than an hour and a half.

McCormick also told the committee, which is studying the bull market on stock exchanges, that speculators swamped his exchange with orders for stock in Pantepec Oil Co., a Venezuelan firm, following another Winchell tip two months ago.

AGAIN THE tip-followers wound up losing money and would have lost much more if the exchange had not acted quickly to hold the price down.

Winchell, a newspaper columnist and radio and TV commentator, said in New York no one has challenged the accuracy of his reports. He added:

"A sound rule is investigate before you invest. Don't buy anything you aren't prepared to hold for 20 years. That's why I buy U.S. government bonds exclusively."

Fulbright said the committee hopes to learn whether anybody made quick money by buying Pantepec stock before Winchell's Jan. 9 telecast and selling it the next morning when the buying avalanche pushed the price up temporarily.

Asked whether he planned to call Winchell as a witness, Fulbright said "not at present."

As for the other reported instances of "tips and rumors" which may have caused market fluctuations, Fulbright gave no details but said the staff is looking into them and the committee will decide later whether to ask for names of traders and brokers.

Israel Faces Stiff Rebuke In Bloody Gaza Incident

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. Security Council has told Israel she faces strong condemnation unless she can produce a better defense of her role in the bloody Gaza incident.

The 11-nation council made this clear yesterday as it held an urgent session to consider Monday's armed clash in Egypt that killed 29 Egyptians, 8 Israelis.

All council members, except Russia which sat silent, indicated that on the basis of preliminary reports they held Israel responsible.

The council agreed to a U. S. proposal to hold up further debate on the explosive issue until Maj. Gen. Edson L. M. Burns, U. N. truce chief in Palestine, gets here to make a personal report on his investigation of the incident.

Then, in a plea voiced through its president, Selim Sarker of Turkey, the council urged both sides to "maintain calmness and tranquility and abstain from the use of force."

Egypt sought the urgent meeting this week, accusing Israel of "violent and premeditated aggression" against Egyptian forces in violation of the 1949 Egypt-Israel armistice agreement.

Israel quickly countered, charging Egypt with "continuous violations" of the 1949 pact and various council resolutions. She recalled armed attacks by Egypt and accused the Cairo government of refusing to negotiate a peace.

In some 90 minutes, 10 of the 11 council members spoke up to deplore the Gaza incident. Many implicitly blamed Egypt on loss of life. None did so to Israel.

James J. Wadsworth of the United States called the affair "indefensible from any standpoint." He said the United States opposed "any policy of reprisal."

"Armed force will not produce peace negotiations," Wadsworth declared.

Wyoming Slayer Cornered, Killed

Ex-Con Goes On Shooting Spree But Railroad Agent Ends Chase

GREEN RIVER, Wyo. (AP)—An officer defied threats to a hostage mother and two children to end a killer's 16-hour crime spree with a charge from a sawed-off shotgun last night.

W. G. Sherman, special agent for the Union Pacific Railroad, fired through a window of the embattled home to kill ex-convict Melvin Henry Gray, 27.

Gray, who earlier killed one man, wounded three others and kidnapped a 17-year-old youth, took refuge in the home of Mrs. Gus Kalivas after a running gunfight through this town of 3,187. It climaxed one of the most intensive manhunts in Wyoming history.

While the desperado menaced Mrs. Kalivas and two children, one of a score of officers encircling the house called and distracted his attention. Sherman seized the opportunity to sneak unseen to a front window and fire.

THE BLAST caught the killer in the chest. He stumbled into a bedroom and officers found him dead seconds later.

One of Gray's pursuers, Deputy Sheriff Ed Phillips of nearby Rock Springs, was in critical condition at a hospital there. A bullet fired by Gray in a chase through Green River's railroad yards hit Phillips in the chest.

Frank Kulinski, Kemmerer town marshal, was wounded seriously after Gray disarmed him and two companions in the pre-dawn hours in Frontier, 87 miles northwest of here. In that same fight, Albert Maffi, 35, Kemmerer garage owner, was killed, and Don Wagner, 35, also of Kemmerer, was wounded.

A young Evanston service station attendant held hostage in his car more than eight hours, Robert Durrant, was not harmed.

The day-long manhunt began when Kulinski and his companions gave chase to Gray's car as they saw it leaving the scene of a reported burglary.

They spotted the car in Frontier, three miles north of Kemmerer, but were taken by surprise when the gunman stepped from hiding.

He commanded them to drive north a short distance, stopped the car and ordered the trio to dismount. Then, without warning, Gray shot Kulinski in the stomach. Next he fired at Wagner, the bullet grazing his cheek. Maffi was struck by three bullets as he fled, and fell dead.

Kulinski staggered three miles into town to report the shootings, and other officers took up the chase. Gray abandoned his getaway car, circled around his pursuers and seized young Durrant slightly.

Police and FBI agents arrested him Thursday in Cuyahoga Falls on a warrant issued Feb. 2. He wrote a letter, the FBI said, in which he threatened his wife's friends if she did not agree to his terms for a divorce.

The warrant was issued while the soldier was still on Formosa. Police said he appeared unexpectedly at Cuyahoga Falls where he found his wife was not home. Patrolmen said he used a pistol in forcing a roomer to try to induce Mrs. Roney to come home.

Describing his reaction later, the sergeant said:

"I thought for a minute I was going to need medical attention."

The triplets—two boys and a girl—were born prematurely and weighed a little more than 2½ pounds each. The couple has two other children.

Arrival Of Triplets Nearly Floors GI

COLUMBUS (AP)—"You came out of it with a much larger family," the attending physician told Marine T. Sgt. William E. Hofstetter after leaving the delivery room at Mt. Carmel Hospital yesterday.

"Two," asked Hofstetter. "No, three," replied the doctor.

Describing his reaction later, the sergeant said:

"I thought for a minute I was going to need medical attention."

The triplets—two boys and a girl—were born prematurely and weighed a little more than 2½ pounds each. The couple has two other children.

March Of Dimes Contributions Reach $11,521

The total raised for the 1955 March of Dimes campaign has reached $11,521.72, with late contributions still being received, according to Dave McDonald, this year's campaign director. McDonald gave his report at the regular meeting of the local chapter.

McDonald said a check for $5,317.16 has been sent to the national foundation. This money will be used by the foundation for research programs, vaccine trials and the emergency fund to help care for polio patients.

A check for the same amount has been deposited in the treasury of the local chapter for a total of $10,634. Final reports and distribution will be completed when all contributions are in for this district.

Miss Joanne Johnson served as treasurer for the 1955 campaign.

"ONCE AGAIN the people of Pickaway County have worked together to make the March of Dimes a success and I want to thank each individual, club and organization that helped with the drive," McDonald said. "I hope each person who helped in any way—by giving time or contribution—will consider this a personal thanks for a job well done."

"I also want to remind them, although the drive is at an end, the local chapter is active the year round. At present we are caring for 17 patients. We're ready to help if we're needed."

Army Sergeant Held For Threats

CLEVELAND (AP)—M. Sgt. Andrew Roney was held in Cuyahoga County jail today, charged with threatening three friends of his estranged wife.

Police and FBI agents arrested him Thursday in Cuyahoga Falls on a warrant issued Feb. 2. He wrote a letter, the FBI said, in which he threatened his wife's friends if she did not agree to his terms for a divorce.

The warrant was issued while the soldier was still on Formosa. Police said he appeared unexpectedly at Cuyahoga Falls where he found his wife was not home. Patrolmen said he used a pistol in forcing a roomer to try to induce Mrs. Roney to come home.

Barmid Kills Man

Baby 'Bleeder' Under Care Of Top Doctors

CHICAGO (P)—The top men of several medical skills have joined in the hope of finding a cure for Peggy Lee Davis, pretty, 15-month-old mystery "bleeder."

The blue-eyed girl is suffering from a baffling blood malady that has killed her sister and afflicts her brother and mother.

Doctors at Presbyterian Hospital have ruled out hemophilia, but they can find no record in medical history of a similar case. After 12 days of tests, they say only that they have found several leads which could be helpful.

Deceptively, Peggy is the picture of health and happiness in her padded crib. The crib is padded to protect her from cuts that could start the dread bleeding.

The bleeding can start from no apparent cause. A nose bleed of one day duration has drained off as much as one-third of the 25-pound girl's total body blood capacity. She showed no signs of the malady until she was 7 months old.

However, a year and a half ago Peggy's sister died of a massive bowel hemorrhage at the age of 17 months. And Peggy's 6-year-old brother has had 53 transfusions to replace blood that seeped into his joints, joints and muscles.

Doctors said Peggy's 26-year-old mother, Mrs. Joan Davis of Lisco, Neb., and Mrs. Davis' two sisters suffer in lesser degree from the same blood condition.

THE BLAST caught the killer in the chest. He stumbled into a bedroom and officers found him dead seconds later.

One of Gray's pursuers, Deputy Sheriff Ed Phillips of nearby Rock Springs, was in critical condition at a hospital there. A bullet fired by Gray in a chase through Green River's railroad yards hit Phillips in the chest.

Frank Kulinski, Kemmerer town marshal, was wounded seriously after Gray disarmed him and two companions in the pre-dawn hours in Frontier, 87 miles northwest of here. In that same fight, Albert Maffi, 35, Kemmerer garage owner, was killed, and Don Wagner, 35, also of Kemmerer, was wounded slightly.

A young Evanston service station attendant held hostage in his car more than eight hours, Robert Durrant, was not harmed.

The day-long manhunt began when Kulinski and his companions gave chase to Gray's car as they saw it leaving the scene of a reported burglary.

They spotted the car in Frontier, three miles north of Kemmerer, where they were taken by surprise when the gunman stepped from hiding.

He commanded them to drive north a short distance, stopped the car and ordered the trio to dismount. Then, without warning, Gray shot Kulinski in the stomach. Next he fired at Wagner, the bullet grazing his cheek. Maffi was struck by three bullets as he fled, and fell dead.

Kulinski staggered three miles into town to report the shootings, and other officers took up the chase. Gray abandoned his getaway car, circled around his pursuers and seized young Durrant.

March Of Dimes Contributions Reach $11,521

The total raised for the 1955 March of Dimes campaign has reached $11,521.72, with late contributions still being received, according to Dave McDonald, this year's campaign director. McDonald gave his report at the regular meeting of the local chapter.

McDonald said a check for $5,317.16 has been sent to the national foundation. This money will be used by the foundation for research programs, vaccine trials and the emergency fund to help care for polio patients.

A check for the same amount has been deposited in the treasury of the local chapter for a total of $10,634. Final reports and distribution will be completed when all contributions are in for this district.

Miss Joanne Johnson served as treasurer for the 1955 campaign.

"ONCE AGAIN the people of Pickaway County have worked together to make the March of Dimes a success and I want to thank each individual, club and organization that helped with the drive," McDonald said. "I hope each person who helped in any way — by giving time or contribution — will consider this a personal thanks for a job well done."

"I also want to remind them, although the drive is at an end, the local chapter is active the year round. At present we are caring for 17 patients. We're ready to help if we're needed."

Army Sergeant Held For Threats

CLEVELAND (P)—M. Sgt. Andrew Roney was held in Cuyahoga County jail today, charged with threatening three friends of his estranged wife.

Police and FBI agents arrested him Thursday in Cuyahoga Falls on a warrant issued Feb. 2. He wrote a letter, the FBI said, in which he threatened his wife's friends if she did not agree to his terms for a divorce.

The warrant was issued while the soldier was still on Formosa. Police said he appeared unexpectedly at Cuyahoga Falls where he found his wife was not home. Patrolmen said he used a pistol in forcing a roomer to try to induce Mrs. Roney to come home.

Arrival Of Triplets Nearly Floors GI

COLUMBUS (P)—"You came out of it with a much larger family," the attending physician told Marine T. Sgt. William E. Hofstetter after leaving the delivery room at Mt. Carmel Hospital yesterday.

"Two?" asked Hofstetter.

"No, three," replied the doctor.

Describing his reaction later, the sergeant said:

"I thought for a minute I was going to need medical attention."

The triplets—two boys and a girl—were born prematurely and weighed a little more than 2½ pounds each. The couple has two other children.

Formosa Press Hints Strongly Of New Move

Nationalists And U.S. Holding Parley; Joint Command May Be Used

TAIPEI, Formosa (P)—Nationalist China and the United States went on with top military talks today amid intense speculation in the Chinese press that the Nationalists might be quitting their Matsu Island outposts.

There was no confirmation that Chiang Kai-shek's garrisons would leave the Matus, 100 miles across the Formosa Strait from the northern tip of this national island stronghold, but security considerations might blank out any news on that score.

The Matsu Island group is only 20 miles off the mainland.

A Red flotilla of 40 gunboats and armed junks staged a brief attack against one of the smaller Matsu islands yesterday. There was no indication it was anything more than a hit and run raid.

The Tachen Islands, 200 miles northwest of Formosa, were evacuated by the Nationalists under the protection of the U. S. 7th Fleet without a shot being fired in early February. The Nationalists later quit Nanchishan, 140 miles northwest of here.

Top level talks proceeded in downtown Taipei.

Newspapers here speculated that one of the items being discussed was the creation of a joint Nationalist - U. S. defense command in this area.

Among those taking part in the talks were Adm. Robert B. Carney, U. S. chief of naval operations; Adm. Felix B. Stump, commander of the Pacific Fleet; Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, commander of the 7th Fleet, and Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, head of the Military Assistance Advisory Group.

Nationalist quarters appeared confident of a big boost in the volume of American military aid to Formosa.

The treaty made the two countries formal allies in the defense of Formosa, the Pescadores and American island territories in the West Pacific.

IT WAS generally assumed that the United States would build up the strength of Chiang Kai-shek's armed forces to enable them to contribute as much as possible to the defense of Formosa if the Reds attack.

Admiral Carney said the Nationalist - American military talks here had identified the problems involved in combined action, if necessary, in defense of the area.

The admiral said the primary purpose of his visit was to discuss the problem that would arise in case of action implementing the mutual defense treaty, which provides for American defense of Formosa and the Pescadores.

He had discussed these problems with Stump, Pride, Chase and the Nationalist defense ministry.

Baroness Says Takers Few On Sale Of Title

CHICAGO (P)—The American market for European titles seems to be slow these days.

Take the case of Lina von Lamezan, who has offered to sell the title of baroness.

She ran a series of notices, the first one nine days ago, in the personal column of a newspaper.

There has been no sale thus far. But she has received an armload of letters, a copy of a religious poem, a bouquet and a song dedicated to her and entitled "The Baroness Waltz."

Mrs. Von Lamezan, a childless widow, is 81 and lives in a time-worn, stove-heated cottage on Chicago's northwest side.

She said that most of the letter writers were people who had some interest but only modest means.

"Some look good," she said. "I'll have to write to them."

Mrs. Von Lamezan explains that she does not have a simple sale in mind. In return for an unspecified sum of money, she says, she will adopt a suitable person who wants to share the title now and inherit it after her death.

She also says she came by the title through marriage in 1926 in Chicago to Baron Franz von Lamezan, who died about five years ago at his family's home in Freiburg, Germany.

Barmid Kills Man

Some Ohio JPs May Lose Jobs In Short Time

Magistrates Getting Close Check By State Legislature Probers

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 5 (AP)—Ohio's highest paid justice of the peace and several others may be looking for work after this session of the Legislature.

Enactment of a dozen proposals to create municipal courts with wide jurisdiction in as many counties would put the magistrates out of business.

Municipal courts would handle cases now tried by peace justices who pocket the costs they assess in lieu of salary.

Both fines and costs imposed by salaried municipal judges go to local political subdivisions and the state according to statutory formula.

"It's a case of justice versus revenues," asserted Rep. Kenneth A. Robinson (R-Marion), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee considering the court proposals.

They call for municipal courts in Elyria, Lorain County; Wapakoneta, Auglaize County; Marietta, Washington County; Celina, Mercer County; Chardon, Geauga County; Eaton, Preble County; Findlay, Hancock County; Fremont, Sandusky County; Lebanon, Warren County; Troy, Miami County, and Van Wert.

Other bills would extend jurisdiction of Willoughby Municipal Court and restrict those in Lancaster and Kenton.

Another proposal pending in the Legislature would put to a popular vote in the affected territory the issue of creating a municipal court. Sponsors of that proposal are Reps. Charles O. Wheeler (R-Morrow) and Elton Lahr (R-Sandusky).

Hearings by Robinson's committee on new court proposals brought out that Virgil Swartzlander, Sandusky County justice of the peace, does a lucrative business in state highway patrol cases.

The patrol maintains a truck weighing station at Hessville near Swartzlander's home in Gibsonville, west of Fremont. The station is on U.S. 20, one of Ohio's busiest highways.

Testimony and records showed Swartzlander collected $97,326 in fines and assessed $15,058 in costs in his court between July 1, 1950, and last June 30.

During that period he handled 3,065 cases, with convictions in all but 27. Swartzlander said patrol cases comprised 99 per cent of his business. He told the committee he could not recall any non-convictions in patrol cases.

Swartzlander appeared for the hearings at Robinson's invitation but indicated he had no intention to testify. Asked to point out his territory on a map in the hearing room, Swartzlander found himself standing in an ideal target position for questions. They came thick and fast.

The slim, youthful appearing Swartzlander answered until asked by attorney Robinson to explain Ohio's "assured clear distance" law and other traffic statutes. He then fell silent.

Other witnesses opposing creation of a Fremont municipal court with nearly county-wide jurisdiction praised Swartzlander's court operations.

"We need more J. P.'s like him," asserted Dwight Wise, farmer near Fremont and unsuccessful Democratic candidate for representative last year. Wise said no one he contacted in a personal survey favored the Fremont court. "That's the rural feeling," he added.

Henry G. Stahl, former president of the Sandusky Bar Assn. and chamber of commerce, headed a delegation backing a Fremont court.

"It has gotten so that no one can be found not guilty in Sandusky County," Stahl asserted. "The only way you can get loose is through a grand jury," he insisted.

Leroy C. Roush, Sandusky County engineer, summed up the opposition. He said a municipal court would result in loss to the county of funds from J. P. court fines used for highway and bridge work.

Witnesses opposed to creation of other courts gave similar testimony.

Rep. Lytle G. Zuber (R-Franklin), a committee member and former judge, said municipal courts would provide more money for subdivisions. He added that all municipal courts currently take in more revenue than the cities' three-fifths share of their operating costs. A few counties get less money from court revenues than their share of costs, he admitted.

Rep. Dailey R. Turner (R-Seneca), another member, said the Supreme Court had declared the fee system unconstitutional when a court must find defendants guilty to collect costs in contested cases. He asserted that made operation of J. P. courts illegal.

Numerous municipal courts with wide county jurisdiction have been created since enactment of the Uniform Municipal Court Act four years ago. Robinson was a principal backer of the act.

He said the highway patrol had only one overload case last year in his county that has a municipal court in Marion. But counties lack-

Sgt. George Green reported that the truck landed on its side after crashing into a guard rail. John T. Powers, 18, of London, the driver, was not injured.

Powers told Green that the westbound vehicle went out of control. The truck is owned by the George Wickline Lumber Co. in London.

Green said a heavy rain hampered traffic at that spot. He added that he received very able assistance from Deputy Sheriff Carl White.

The accident site is near the entrance of Harden's westend car lot.

Two Corrections In Sheriff Story

Two errors appeared in The Herald's story Friday on the reply by Pickaway County Sheriff Charles Radcliff to County Commissioner Bill Goode. The controversy centers on whether the county commissioners have been appropriating enough money for efficient work of the sheriff's branch.

Friday's story said Pickaway County pays the jail matron $150 a month, "plus another $50 a month as cook." Actually, she receives $150 a month as cook.

The sheriff was also quoted as giving data on meals served at the jail in February. He said the figures relate, instead, to meals served in January.

It is estimated that a normal man's blood cells contain enough electricity to light a 25-watt bulb for about three minutes.

Gloyd, a gunner in Company C of the 37th Tank Battalion, entered the Army in February 1954. His wife, Lenora, lives in Georgetown, Texas.

Pfc Paul D. Rooney, 20, grandson of Mrs. Rose Pickens, 124 Watt, recently participated in a special Army test exercise at Fort Hood, Texas.

Purpose of the exercise was to test combat command experimental formations organized by the 1st Armored Division to adapt to the latest concepts of atomic-age ground warfare.

Rooney, a leader with Company C of the division's 81st Reconnaissance Battalion, entered the Army in March 1954 and received basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

He is a 1952 graduate of Circleville High School.

Sgt. Jack L. Betts, 22, son of Rodney A. Betts, of Williamsport, recently spent a week's leave in Tokyo from his unit in Korea.

Ohio Tax Receipts Continue To Gain

Statewide collections of $2,874,625 from the sale of prepaid tax receipts for the week ending February 19, 1955, marked the sixth consecutive increase over sales tax collections in the corresponding weeks of last year, it was disclosed Friday by State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy.

This amount represents a gain of $317,484, or 12.4 per cent in excess of the $2,557,141 total for the week which ended February 20, 1954.

In the 12-month comparison for the week ending February 19, receipts in Pickaway County nearly doubled — jumping from $3,983.92 last year to $7,120.67 this year.

Collections statewide were up for five of the eight major industry classifications, ranging from $2,581, or 1.03 per cent in the building group to $222,678, or 27.9 per cent in the automotive classification.

The sub-classification of motor vehicles, in the automotive category, continued to show the largest increase, with collections of $878,745 registering a gain of $200,116, or 29.4 over the same week in 1954.

Amey Enters Plea Of Innocent Friday

Still protesting his innocence, former Circleville Mayor Ed Amey pleaded innocent to accusations of embezzlement when arraigned before Common Pleas Judge William D. Radcliff Friday afternoon.

Amey was among those indicted earlier this week by the second session of the January term of the grand jury here. Judge Radcliff said that the sentencing of those who pleaded guilty to accusations against them would tentatively be held next Wednesday afternoon.

Bail for Amey was set at $2,000. He told The Herald he did not have the money but that friends had indicated they would supply enough for a property bond.

He is accused on five counts of embezzlement. His case resulted from a state auditor's report of his administration during 1952-53.

ALL BUT FIVE indictments returned against 10 other men resulted in pleas of guilty. Three other men, besides Amey, entered pleas of innocent. They are:

Lawrence Byrd, accused of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquors. Byrd's $200 bond was continued by Judge Radcliff.

Granville Galloway, accused of cutting with intent to wound. The incident in question is alleged to have taken place last Feb. 5. His bond of $300 was continued by the judge.

Hobart Payne, accused of breaking and entering and of petit larceny in connection with an incident at the Mavis Service Station last Oct. 7. Bond of $1,000 was set on the breaking and entering accusation and $200 on the petit larceny. He asked the judge to assign him a lawyer as he had no funds.

Payne, however, pleaded guilty to a petit larceny accusation. He and Allen McKittrick are accused of taking cans of vegetables from the Winorr Canning Co. here last Sept. 1.

McKittrick also pleaded guilty to the accusation. However, he was sentenced after the arraignment as he had previously been out on bond. He was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail, the jail term being suspended and he was put on probation for that time.

A man, said to have been with Payne on the Mavis Service Station break-in, pleaded guilty to accusations of breaking and entering and petit larceny. He is Johnny Ray Blevins.

Blevins also pleaded guilty to four other charges. He is accused of breaking and entering plus grand larceny from: (a) Quality Cleaners, on last Dec. 23, and (b) the Circleville Iron and Metal Works, on last Dec. 30.

CLYDE O'DELL JR., accused of breaking and entering plus grand larceny at the Iron Works, likewise pleaded guilty. James Payne, facing the same two accusations for the same offense, also pleaded guilty.

Payne was also accused of breaking and entering and grand larceny of the Quality Cleaners, to which he entered pleas of guilty. A third person, facing the same two accusations on the Quality Cleaners incident, Ray E. Davis, entered guilty pleas too.

James Payne had additional accusations of breaking and entering plus petit larceny placed against him. He is alleged to have entered Hoffman's Grill, on S. Maplewood Ave., on last Dec. 9. He pleaded guilty to both accusations.

Francis Chilcote, accused of forging a $5 check made out to the Western Auto Store here last Oct. 25, entered a plea of guilty. Gilbert Fout pleaded guilty to an accusation of non-support.

The grand jury also handed down five secret indictments, all for non-support.

March Storms Plague Country.

Flood Threat Hiked In Various Places

By The Associated Press

Early March storms continued to plague wide areas of the country today, increasing the threat of floods in some places.

Wintry weather showed no letup in northern border states.

Magistrates Getting Close Check By State Legislature Probers

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 5 (AP)—Ohio's highest paid justice of the peace and several others may be looking for work after this session of the Legislature.

Enactment of a dozen proposals to create municipal courts with wide jurisdiction in as many counties would put the magistrates out of business.

Municipal courts would handle cases now tried by peace justices who pocket the costs they assess in lieu of salary.

Both fines and costs imposed by salaried municipal judges go to local political sub-divisions and the state according to statutory formula.

"It's a case of justice versus revenues," asserted Rep. Kenneth A. Robinson (R-Marion), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee considering the court proposals.

They call for municipal courts in Elyria, Lorain County; Wapakoneta, Auglaize County; Marietta, Washington County; Celina, Mercer County; Chardon, Geauga County; Eaton, Preble County; Findlay, Hancock County; Fremont, Sandusky County; Lebanon, Warren County; Troy, Miami County, and Van Wert.

Other bills would extend jurisdiction of Willoughby Municipal Court and restrict those in Lancaster and Kenton.

Another proposal pending in the Legislature would put to a popular vote in the affected territory the issue of creating a municipal court. Sponsors of that proposal are Reps. Charles O. Wheeler (R-Morrow) and Elton Lahr (R-Sandusky).

Hearings by Robinson's committee on new court proposals brought out that Virgil Swartzlander, Sandusky County justice of the peace, does a lucrative business in state highway patrol cases.

The patrol maintains a truck weighing station at Hessville near Swartzlander's home in Gibsonville, west of Fremont. The station is on U.S. 20, one of Ohio's busiest highways.

Testimony and records showed Swartzlander collected $97,326 in fines and assessed $15,058 in costs in his court between July 1, 1950, and last June 30.

During that period he handled 3,065 cases, with convictions in all but 27. Swartzlander said patrol cases comprised 99 per cent of his business. He told the committee he could not recall any non-convictions in patrol cases.

Swartzlander appeared for the hearings at Robinson's invitation but indicated he had no intention to testify. Asked to point out his territory on a map in the hearing room, Swartzlander found himself standing in an ideal target position for questions. They came thick and fast.

The slim, youthful appearing Swartzlander answered until asked by attorney Robinson to explain Ohio's "assured clear distance" law and other traffic statutes. He then fell silent.

Other witnesses opposing creation of a Fremont municipal court with nearly county-wide jurisdiction praised Swartzlander's court operations.

"We need more J. P.'s like him, asserted Dwight Wise, farmer near Fremont and unsuccessful Democratic candidate for representative last year. Wise said no one he contacted in a personal survey favored the Fremont court. "That's the rural feeling," he added.

Henry G. Stahl, former president of the Sandusky Bar Assn. and chamber of commerce, headed a delegation backing a Fremont court.

"It has gotten so that no one can be found not guilty in Sandusky County," Stahl asserted. "The only way you can get loose is through a grand jury," he insisted. Leroy C. Roush, Sandusky County engineer, summed up the opposition. He said a municipal court would result in loss to the county of funds from J. P. court fines used for highway and bridge work.

Witnesses opposed to creation of other courts gave similar testimony.

Rep. Lytle G. Zuber (R-Franklin), a committee member and former judge, said municipal courts would provide more money for subdivisions. He added that all municipal courts currently take in more revenue than the cities' three-fifths share of their operating costs. A few counties get less money from court revenues than their share of costs, he admitted.

Rep. Dailey R. Turner (R-Seneca), another member, said the Supreme Court had declared the fee system unconstitutional when a court must find defendants guilty to collect costs in contested cases. He asserted that made operation of J. P. courts illegal.

Numerous municipal courts with wide county jurisdiction have been created since enactment of the Uniform Municipal Court Act four years ago. Robinson was a principal backer of the act.

He said the highway patrol had only one overload case last year in his county that has a municipal court in Marion. But counties lack-

Two Corrections In Sheriff Story

Two errors appeared in The Herald's story Friday on the reply by Pickaway County Sheriff Charles Radcliff to County Commissioner Bill Goode. The controversy centers on whether the county commissioners have been appropriating enough money for efficient work of the sheriff's branch.

Friday's story said Pickaway County pays the jail matron $150 a month, "plus another $50 a month as cook." Actually, she receives $150 a month as cook.

The sheriff was also quoted as giving data on meals served at the jail in February. He said the figures relate, instead, to meals served in January.

It is estimated that a normal man's blood cells contain enough electricity to light a 25-watt bulb for about three minutes.

Palm, son of Mrs. Frances Palm, of 136 Park Place, both members of the Circleville chapter of the order. Highest honor that can be given a member of the DeMolay for outstanding service to the order, the Chevalier degree has been conferred to a Master Mason having the 33rd degree conferred upon him.

Fausnaugh was a member of the 1954 graduating class at Jackson Township High School and is now employed at the Circleville lamp works of the General Electric Co. Palm is a senior at Circleville High School.

Pfc Lawrence V. Gloyd, whose mother, Mrs. Francis Gloyd, lives at 128 Logan St., Ashville, is a member of the 4th Armored Division's "Aggressor Force," which recently held mock attacks on 1st Armored Division troops in an Army training exercise at Fort Hood, Tex.

The "aggressor force," complete with a fictitious national history, government, language and military organization, gives regular units an opportunity to maneuver against a realistic enemy.

Gloyd, a gunner in Company C of the 37th Tank Battalion, entered the Army in February 1954. His wife, Lenora, lives in Georgetown, Texas.

Pfc Paul D. Rooney, 24, grandson of Mrs. Rose Pickens, 124 Watt, recently participated in a special Army test exercise at Fort Hood, Tex.

Purpose of the exercise was to test combat command experimental formations organized by the 1st Armored Division to adapt to the latest concepts of atomic-age ground warfare.

Rooney, a leader with Company C of the division's 81st Reconnaissance Battalion, entered the Army in March 1954 and received basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

He is a 1952 graduate of Circleville High School.

Sgt. Jack L. Betts, 22, son of Rodney A. Betts, of Williamsport, recently spent a week's leave in Tokyo from his unit in Korea.

Ohio Tax Receipts Continue To Gain

Statewide collections of $2,874,625 from the sale of prepaid tax receipts for the week ending February 19, 1955, marked the sixth consecutive increase over sales tax collections of last year, it was disclosed Friday by State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy.

This amount represents a gain of $317,484, or 12.4 per cent in excess of the $2,557,141 total for the week which ended February 20, 1954.

In the 12-month comparison for the week ending February 19, receipts in Pickaway County nearly doubled — jumping from $3,983.92 last year to $7,120.67 this year.

Amey Enters Plea Of Innocent Friday

Still protesting his innocence, former Circleville Mayor Ed Amey pleaded innocent to accusations of embezzlement when arraigned before Common Pleas Judge William D. Radcliff Friday afternoon.

Amey was among those indicted earlier this week by the second session of the January term of the grand jury here. Judge Radcliff said that the sentencing of those who pleaded guilty to accusations against them would tentatively be held next Wednesday afternoon.

Bail for Amey was set at $2,000. He told The Herald he did not have the money but that friends had indicated they would supply enough for a property bond.

He is accused on five counts of embezzlement. His case resulted from a state auditor's report of his administration during 1952-53.

ALL BUT FIVE indictments returned against 10 other men resulted in pleas of guilty. Three other men, besides Amey, entered pleas of innocent. They are:

Lawrence Byrd, accused of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquors. Byrd's $200 bond was continued by Judge Radcliff.

Grayville Galloway, accused of cutting with intent to wound. The incident in question is alleged to have taken place last Feb. 5. His bond of $300 was continued by the judge.

Hobart Payne, accused of breaking and entering and of petit larceny in connection with an incident at the Mavis Service Station last Oct. 7. Bond of $1,000 was set on the breaking and entering accusation and $200 on the petit larceny. He asked the judge to assign him a lawyer as he had no funds.

Payne, however, pleaded guilty to a petit larceny accusation. He and Allen McKittrick are accused of taking cans of vegetables from the Winor Canning Co. here last Sept. 1.

McKittrick also pleaded guilty to the accusation. However, he was sentenced after the arraignment as he had previously been out on bond. He was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail, the jail term being suspended and he was put on probation for that time.

A man, said to have been with Payne on the Mavis Service Station break-in, pleaded guilty to accusations of breaking and entering and petit larceny. He is Johnny Ray Blevins.

Blevins also pleaded guilty to four other charges. He is accused of breaking and entering plus grand larceny from: (a) Quality Cleaners, on last Dec. 23, and (b) the Circleville Iron and Metal Works, on last Dec. 30.

CLYDE O'DELL JR., accused of breaking and entering plus grand larceny at the Iron Works, likewise pleaded guilty. James Payne, facing the same two accusations for the same offense, also pleaded guilty.

Payne was also accused of breaking and entering and grand larceny of the Quality Cleaners, to which he entered pleas of guilty. A third person, facing the same two accusations on the Quality Cleaners incident, Ray E. Davis, entered guilty pleas too.

James Payne had additional accusations of breaking and entering plus petit larceny placed against him. He is alleged to have entered Hoffman's Grill, on S. Maplewood Ave., on last Dec. 9. He pleaded guilty to both accusations.

Francis Chilcote, accused of forging a $5 check made out to the Western Auto Store here last Oct. 25, entered a plea of guilty. Gilbert Fout pleaded guilty to an accusation of non-support.

The grand jury also handed down five secret indictments, all for non-support.

Devotion Of Judas Lent Theme Here For Presbyterians

"The Devotion of Judas" is the Lenten theme for worship at the Presbyterian Church Sunday at 10:30 a. m.

In the 26th chapter of the Gospel of St. Matthew is found the Scriptural account of a very rare and exotic oriental aromatic perfume. It holds the secret to a problem which has puzzled people for many ages. The problem is Judas.

"Was there any devotion in the heart of Judas? Could it be that there may have been some mistake about Judas? Was he devoted to our Lord whom he later betrayed? What was the nature of his devotion?"

"These are some of the important questions to which we need the answers as we face the inevitable problem raised by Judas Iscariot, in our approach to Easter."

The choir will sing, "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked", Mrs. Clark Will directing. Organ numbers chosen by Mrs. Theodore L. Huston include: "Benedicta Tu", "Dolce" and "Presto" from Bach's "Italian Concerto".

The choir will also assist the congregation with the Lenten hymns:

Church Of Christ To Have Sermon On Discrimination

The second sermon on the "Power of Discrimination" will be presented Sunday at the Church of Christ, meeting at 159 E. Main St.

In a preview of the lesson Charles Cochran says:

"It is extremely important to be able to properly discriminate between truth and error. Jesus said, 'And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free' (John 8:32). Since it is the truth that can make free and error or ignorance keeps people in bondage, everyone should be anxious to discern the truth.

"In The Cross of Christ", "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" and "Strong Son of God".

"The surest way to be able to detect error is to know the truth. This is the greatest safeguard against false teachers and those who would teach a perverted gospel. One may know the truth by studying the Bible with an open mind and receptive heart, with a fervent desire to know the truth.

"Error very often is hid behind a mask of piety and humility, and is propagated with great zeal and fervor. Many times those who expound error are willing to make great sacrifices in its behalf. Yet, those who have discerning minds and know the truth are not deceived by this display of apparent righteousness. Jesus very readily detected the hypocrisy of the religion of the Scribes and Pharisees and called them 'hypocrites.'

"We cannot afford to be deceived by the fact that the advocates of many false ways enjoy popularity, have many followers, boast of elaborate structures, and have great wealth. These things are not a standard for determining truth or judging of its merits.

A HOME OF THEIR OWN

From the time they were married Marion and Jim aspired to own their own home, but Jim was a struggling young postal clerk and Marion gave up her job when the babies started to arrive. During the years they clung to their dream even when it seemed an impossibility. They moved from apartment to duplex to rented house and always the unused house plans moved with them.

Marion and Jim were not bitter, for while their material dreams were postponed, others were realized. They raised three bouncing girls and one boy to maturity with a serenity not all parents know. Theirs was a church-going family and their youngsters took to the good way of life like ducks take to water. There were the customary children's diseases but no casualties on the spiritual front.

Now Jim and Marion are established in that long awaited home of their own. The children are grown and gone, but they do not feel that fulfillment has come too late. In calm assurance of a job well done they take delight in their reward—a happy, contented life of accomplishment.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A REVEALING aspect in the latest power shuffle in Russia is the way Party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev forced the deposed Malenkov, in rendering his recital of failure, to eat not his own but Khrushchev's words.

Khrushchev, who seems to hold indisputable title to the dictator's mantle, pulled two big boners in his apparently self-proclaimed role of Soviet agricultural expert, but it was Malenkov who publicly took the rap for the communist regime's greatest and most consistent shortcoming.

It was Khrushchev's idea in 1950 that existing Soviet collective farms were too small and too numerous for efficient operation and ought to be even further collectivized. Out of this grew the ill-fated "agrograds," or farm cities. The premise was that farmers ought to live in urban centers like industrial workers and journey to and from the fields daily as though the crop rows were assembly lines. This project ended in about two years after it was realized that production had skidded under previous lows.

Never daunted, Khrushchev last year conceived another grandiose plan, to create a vast new farm belt in Siberia and Central Asia, involving the transplanting of millions of peasants. According to reports, this scheme is completely bogged down by its very immensity.

Despite it all, Khrushchev is now top man in Russia, seemingly with power to hire and fire the premier. Anyone trying to understand this turn of events is reminded that the West has been trying to comprehend the Russians since almost the beginning of time and seems to be no closer to pay dirt than before.

GAIN IN ADVERTISING

NEWSPAPER advertising volume chalked up the greatest monthly gain in recent years in January, with an increase of 7.3 per cent over January, 1954. Thus a trend which has been uninterrupted since restrictions on newsprint were lifted at the end of World War II is gaining momentum.

The figures, released by the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, were based on a survey of newspapers in 52 "index" cities, usually found to be a reliable barometer.

With the largest circulation in history, newspapers today are found to be more indispensable advertising mediums than ever by large and small retail outlets, manufacturers and the service industries. When business increases the amount of advertising space it buys in newspapers, it does so solely on the basis that people read the advertisements and patronize the advertisers.

Editor's Note: Every Saturday, Mr. Tucker answers readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent to him at 7008 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON—"I have read many newspaper columnists' attacks on Senator Knowland because of his criticism of the United Nations," writes S. G. of Los Angeles. "They think he should not question the U.N.'s effectiveness because, as they say, it was 'created by the will of the American people,' and, therefore, it is 'an American institution.' What is your opinion?"

Answer: I think this sort of criticism of the senator from California is the bunk. The American people had no more to do with proposing or organizing the United Nations than they had with Truman's decision to send our troops into Korea. It is a world, not an "American," institution.

F.D.R. FOR U.N.—If there was any single author or architect of the United Nations, it was Franklin D. Roosevelt. He had always been a devotee of the League of Nations, although he repudiated even that idea when it was politically convenient. He aspired to be another Woodrow Wilson. Prime Minister Churchill was not sold on the proposition because, as his memoirs show, he did not trust the Russians to cooperate after the war. He went along to "baby" Roosevelt, and for fear of breaking up the Western alliance.

SACRIFICE—Roosevelt got his United Nations, but at what cost? In return for Stalin's agreement, F.D.R. acquiesced in peace arrangements which have given China to the Communists. The U. N. certainly has not achieved any victories to compensate or atone for that sacrifice.

Even Eisenhower's defense of the U. N. has holes. He said that, simply because no cure for cancer has been found, we do not destroy cancer laboratories and research staffs. True! But if a cancer institution or researcher deliberately sabotages the search you build new hospitals and hire new cancer experts.

These Days

An old friend, Sam, bumped into me but hard the other night at a wedding. We had not seen each other for years. Sam is a salesman. If you buy it, he sells it. Just now, he is selling television sets, refrigerators, etc., etc., on the installment plan. If you don't have money, buy anyhow. Why should you not have what everybody has? Is that Democratic?

So with such a start, I asked Sam, "Is business good?"

"Why should it not be good," Sam asked, always starting an argument. "If the Russians and the Chinese will only scare people, business will be good. As long as we live on a war economy, people will buy. They got the money."

"Sam, you've become a statesman," I said.

"Who isn't?" Sam asked. "Nowadays everybody is a statesman. Also he knows about India and Pakistan, Iran and Iraq, Matsu and Quemoy; also who got bumped off in Moscow. But nobody tells him why. Everybody knows so much these days, that there ain't no use telling him anything."

"So I say to a customer, how can you live without a television set if you want to live at all? So the customer says, 'Truly, if you sit down in the night time and have a look at television, you don't worry should the hydrogen bomb come. How do you know it won't come?'"

"So I tell the customer, he should buy a big screen television set and he can not only hear the experts but see them with maps and charts and pointers and even monkeys playing on the piano. The monkey playing the piano is a change of pace from the monotony of the news."

"Tell me, Sam," I asked, "does the customer ever ask you what makes an expert an expert?"

"You still ask foolish questions after all these years," Sam replied. "Would a guy be hired by C.B.S. and N.B.C. and the State Department and General Motors, if he didn't know what he was talking about? Also is it good business to spoil the customer's appetite for an expert? So she tells me Hotsiklotz is the biggest authority in the whole world and he and not Dulles should be Secretary of State."

"So I say if you buy a television set from me, you can see the great commentator Hotsiklotz every night from Monday to Friday, same time same station, just before you want to go to sleep. His voice is like a pheno-barbital. So clear, so beautiful, so wonderful, he stands in front of your face and tells you what Khrushchev said to Malenkov before he gave him the gate."

"If you buy quick, you can even get in on the next act when Khrushchev clips off Malenkov's head after notifying Hotsiklotz to stand around, something's going to happen soon. Sign here and the credit company will do the rest."

"I should spoil my business by telling the customer that the reason why everybody talks problems is because nobody solves any. The same problems are always around like kibitzers telling us what we should do to Formosa, why France can't keep a government, why Eisenhower likes Black Angus cows better than Republicans, why Nixon is sent travelling so he won't make enemies in Washington."

Protecting Children From Getting Smallpox

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WHILE vaccinations offer 100 per cent protection against some diseases, they do not completely protect children from others.

Fortunately, vaccines do make your youngsters immune to one of the most contagious diseases known—smallpox.

As I told you yesterday, your baby should be vaccinated against smallpox by the time he is three months old, and no later than his first birthday. The earlier he is vaccinated, the less chance he has of catching the disease.

If your child has eczema, however, it's probably best to wait until the condition has cleared. Also, it's not a good idea to vaccinate your baby if he has a cold or fever, or if someone in your home has a cold.

What You Should Know

There are a few things you should know about his vaccination.

First, it needs air to heal. Some doctors don't think any dressing is needed. Others advise a loose bandage to prevent the baby from scratching the vaccination.

If you do decide to bandage it, use a small sterile gauze dressing. Hang it loosely over the vaccination. Use a narrow strip of adhesive tape to hold it in place at the top only. And don't wind the tape all the way around his arm.

I advise you to give the baby a sponge bath rather than his regular tub bath until the scab falls off. Be careful not to get the vaccination wet.

Vaccine does not offer perfect protection against whooping cough. But even if it doesn't prevent the disease, the vaccine probably will make the case much less severe.

Special Cases

Inoculations should not be given an infant with a tendency to convulsions, a baby who reacts severely to injections, a mentally retarded youngster, a small or premature baby who is not gaining weight, or to any infant who has a fever or infection of any kind, boils, eczema or impetigo.

Remember, also, that the vaccine may not build up enough protection until about a month after the last injection. Diphtheria injections provide almost complete immunity, and cause babies very little pain and seldom make them sick.

INOCULATION TIME TABLE

Age	Type of Injection
1 to 3 mo.	Smallpox vaccination.
3 mo.	Whooping cough vaccine.
4 mo.	Whooping cough vaccine.
5 mo.	Whooping cough vaccine.
6 mo.	Whooping cough vaccine.
8 mo.	Combined diphtheria and tetanus toxoid.
9 mo.	Combined diphtheria and tetanus toxoid.
2 yrs.	Booster dose of combined diphtheria and tetanus toxoids and whooping cough vaccine.
3 yrs.	Booster dose of combined diphtheria and tetanus toxoids and whooping cough vaccine.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

M. W.: What is the cause of blood vessels bursting in the legs and arm muscles?

Answer: It is not likely that the condition you have is due to breaking of blood vessels but rather to the oozing of blood through the tiny blood vessel walls. This condition occurs in a disorder known as purpura.

Careful study by your physician is advisable to determine the cause for the difficulty so that it may be properly treated.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

FRED sighed and went on with his story of how Jimmie and Annie finally decided to be married. "Yes, I was feeling pretty good about it, too. Annie blossomed like a rose."

"It's surely too bad that the girl was killed."

"It is too bad! May's dead, but, Murphy—the others—Annie and Jimmie. They've got their lives ahead."

"You mean Annie will blame him?"

"No. She'll blame herself. I can just hear her arguments. Everybody's going to forget that May was flighty to the point of being foolish. Jimmie's going to crawl in self-reproach. And Annie will sternly return to what she knows all along was her duty—Oh, I can just hear her!"

"She'll get over it."

"This is her wedding night. Unless I can talk her into going on with Jimmie tonight, Murphy—that honeymoon will never be. She'll grow more bitter with each day. On top of that she'll condemn any amorous move her father might make. He's forty, and lusty. Her little brothers and sisters need a mother, too. You see, Murphy, why I had to come out here tonight?"

"I see what you think you see, Fritz. But I still don't know what you can do."

"Neither do I. But you can bet I'll do what I can."

"Do you care if I watch your opportunities arise?"

"Why the devil do you suppose I brought you along?"

It was a story which Murphy was to tell many times. He made a humorous thing of it, telling, but somehow that evening Murphy found no occasion to smile. Telling his story, Murphy always began:

"It could be called taking over the functions of Fate, if not God, but no one seemed to think it presumption on Fritz's part. Why, I couldn't believe my eyes and ears, the way he—"

The long ranch house was ablaze with lights when the station wagon nosed through the gates. In the doorway, Stetson-hatted men turned grave faces to greet the doctor, and spoke soberly to him. Fred went up the steps to the porch, and into the big room with its Indian rugs and its scuffed furniture. He spoke to the women seated there. Tom Martin came forward at once, his ruddy face worn with the long day and its events.

Roosevelt proclaimed bank holiday; banned hoarding; embargoed gold. On Sunday, Mar. 6: Vermont separated from New York as a separate colony. 1831—General Philip Sheridan, American soldier, born.

Try, Stop Me

Budd Schulberg—who writes wonderful books, but drives his publisher crazy by never delivering them on time (I know, because I'm the publisher!)—explained his technique to Reporter Ed Wallace. "First," said Budd, "I clean the typewriter. Then I go through my shelves and return all borrowed books. Then I play with my three playing the same phonograph record continuously for 60 hours. This makes Grandpappy Jenkins long for the "good old" days when collegians didn't play records—they just ate them.

Bill to outlaw nudism in Michigan has been introduced in that state's legislature. Wonder if it has more than a bare chance of passing?

A Los Angeles man was charged with shooting up a store which, he said, sold him shoes that hurt his feet. Who said barking dogs don't bite?

An 82-year-old Milwaukeean routed two youths who tried to strong arm him. Next time those young hoodlums will probably pick on some one their size—and age.

"This is a bad thing, Tom," said Fred gently. "I'm sorry I was out of town."

Tom looked beyond Fred's shoulder. "Dr. Hudson was good to us."

"I know. But I'm sorry I wasn't here, as a friend."

"There weren't nuthin' anybody could do, Doc! Even you couldn't help poor May. You're not to blame yourself for bein' gone."

Murphy watched the bereaved father lighten his own load by his effort to comfort and reassure Fred. This was repeated over and over through the evening. Fred would express his regret; the one to whom he talked would comfort him, and so find relief.

Fred took his time; he talked to each one, heard the story over and over; he said the same things in reply. Murphy took up a position near the door and watched. More neighbors came in, and again Fred must listen to their words, agree with the general opinion that this was a bad thing, a sad one. Stories were exchanged of other weddings turned into disaster. From there the talk went to practical things, to the crops, and the weather...

Hours went by. It was almost midnight when Fred went over to Jimmie, who sat unhappy in a chair, he rose at the doctor's approach. Fred looked about for Annie, who came to him.

"I'm going to have to go back to town," he said. "I hope folks'll clear out and let the family get some rest. You've all had a hard day, with a couple more to come. Jimmie, if I were you, I'd take Annie down home now, see that she gets a good night's sleep—she'll be more able to handle things in the morning." He looked away from something, who seemed ready to say something. "Mrs. Dowling," he said clearly to a woman across the room. "Can you stay here tonight?"

"I'll be glad to, Doc."

With the whole room-full watching, listening, Annie could do nothing but let Jimmie put his arm around her shoulder, lead her out to his car.

Fred led an exodus of the visitors. Mrs. Dowling, with Tom Martin at her side, watched the cars depart.

"I take it," said Murphy, groaning as he stretched his legs in the car, "that the woman in pink is Martin's widow?"

"Yes," said Fred.

"And that she's the kind to make outstanding young men of 1954 by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce. He is 31, and hail from Hamlin, W. Va. Who is he?"

Protecting Children From Getting Smallpox

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WHILE vaccinations offer 100 per cent protection against some diseases, they do not completely protect children from others.

Fortunately, vaccines do make your youngsters immune to one of the most contagious diseases known—smallpox.

Early Vaccination

As I told you yesterday, your baby should be vaccinated against smallpox by the time he is three months old, and no later than his first birthday. The earlier he is vaccinated, the less chance he has of catching the disease.

If your child has eczema, however, it's probably best to wait until the condition has cleared. Also, it's not a good idea to vaccinate your baby if he has a cold or fever, or if someone in your home has a cold.

What You Should Know

There are a few things you should know about his vaccination.

First, it needs air to heal. Some doctors don't think any dressing is needed. Others advise a loose bandage to prevent the baby from scratching the vaccination.

If you do decide to bandage it, use a small sterile gauze dressing. Hang it loosely over the vaccination. Use a narrow strip of adhesive tape to hold it in place at the top only. And don't wind the tape all the way around his arm. I advise you to give the baby a sponge bath rather than his regular tub bath until the scab falls off. Be careful not to get the vaccination wet.

Vaccine does not offer perfect protection against whooping cough. But even if it doesn't prevent the disease, the vaccine probably will make the case much less severe.

Special Cases

Inoculations should not be given any infant with a tendency to convulsions, a baby who reacts severely to injections, a mentally retarded youngster, a small or premature baby who is not gaining weight, or to any infant who has a fever or infection of any kind, boils, eczema or impetigo.

Remember, also, that the vaccine may not build up enough protection until about a month after the last injection.

Diphtheria injections provide almost complete immunity, and cause babies very little pain and seldom make them sick.

Age	Type of Injection
1 to 3 mo.	Smallpox vaccination.
3 mo.	Whooping cough vaccine.
4 mo.	Whooping cough vaccine.
5 mo.	Whooping cough vaccine.
6 mo.	Whooping cough vaccine.
8 mo.	Combined diphtheria and tetanus toxoid.
9 mo.	Combined diphtheria and tetanus toxoid.
2 yrs.	Booster dose of combined diphtheria and tetanus toxoids and whooping cough vaccine.
3 yrs.	Booster dose of combined diphtheria and tetanus toxoids and whooping cough vaccine.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

M. W.: What is the cause of blood vessels bursting in the legs and arm muscles?

Answer: It is not likely that the condition you have is due to breaking of blood vessels but rather to the coiling of blood through the tiny blood vessel walls. This condition occurs in a disorder known as purpura.

Careful study by your physician is advisable to determine the cause for the difficulty so that it may be properly treated.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

FRED sighed and went on with his story of how Jimmie and Annie finally decided to be married. "Yes, I was feeling pretty good about it, too. Annie blossomed like a rose."

"It's surely too bad that the girl was killed."

"It is too bad! May's dead, but, Murph—the others—Annie and Jimmie. They've got their lives ahead."

"You mean Annie will blame him?"

"No. She'll blame herself. I can just hear her arguments. Everybody's going to forget that May was tightly to the point of being foolish. Jimmie's going to crawl in self-reproach. And Annie will sternly return to what she knew all along was her duty—Oh, I can just hear her!"

"She'll get over it."

"This is her wedding night. Unless I can talk her into going on with Jimmie tonight, Murph—that honeymoon will never be. She'll grow more bitter with each day. On top of that she'll condemn any amorous move her father might make. He's forty, and lusty. Her little brothers and sisters need a mother, too. You see, Murph, why I had to come out here tonight?"

"I see what you think you see, Fritz. But I still don't know what you can do."

"Neither do I. But you can bet I'll do what I can."

"Do you care if I watch your opportunities arise?"

"Why the devil do you suppose I brought you along?"

It was a story which Murph was to tell many times. He made a numerous thing of it, telling, but somehow that evening Murph found no occasion to smile. Telling his story, Murph always began:

"It could be called taking over the functions of Fate, if not God, but no one seemed to think it presumption on Fritz's part. Why, I couldn't believe my eyes and ears, the way he—"

The long ranch house was ablaze with lights when the station wagon nosed through the gates. In the doorway, Stetson-hatted men turned grave faces to greet the doctor, and spoke soberly to him. Fred went up the steps to the porch, and into the big room with its Indian rugs and its scuffed furniture. He spoke to the women seated there. Tom Martin came forward at once, his ruddy face worn with the long day and its events.

Try, Stop Me

Budd Schulberg—who writes wonderful books, but drives his publisher crazy by never delivering them on time (I know, because I'm the publisher!)—explained his technique to Reporter Ed Wallace. "First," said Budd, "I clean the typewriter. Then I go through my shelves and return all borrowed books. Then I play with my three playing the same phonograph record continuously for 60 hours. This makes Grandpa Jenkins long for the "good old" days when collegians didn't play records—they just ate them."

Bill to outlaw nudism in Michigan has been introduced in that state's legislature. Wonder if it has more than a bare chance of passing?

A Los Angeles man was charged with shooting up a store which, he said, sold him shoes that hurt his feet. Who said barking dogs don't bite?

An 82-year-old Milwaukeean routed two youths who tried to strong arm him. Next time those young hoodlums will probably pick on some one their size—and age.

"This is a bad thing, Tom," said Fred gently. "I'm sorry I was out of town."

Tom looked beyond Fred's shoulder. "Dr. Hudson was good to us."

"I know. But I'm sorry I wasn't here, as a friend."

"There weren't nuthin' anybody could do, Doc! Even you couldn't help poor May. You're not to blame yourself for bein' gone."

Murphy watched the bereaved father lighten his own load by his effort to comfort and reassure Fred. This was repeated over and over through the evening. Fred would express his regret; the one to whom he talked would comfort him, and so find relief.

Fred took his time; he talked to each one, heard the story over and over; he said the same things in reply. Murphy took up a position near the door and watched. More neighbors came in, and again Fred must listen to their words, agree with the general opinion that this was a bad thing, a sad one. Stories were exchanged of other weddings turned into disaster. From there the talk went to practical things, to the crops, and the weather...

Hours went by. It was almost midnight when Fred went over to Jimmie, who sat unhappy in a chair; he rose, the doctor's approach. Fred looked about for Annie, who came to him.

"I'm going to have to go back to town," he said. "I hope folks'll clear out and let the family get some rest. You've all had a hard day, with a couple more to come. Jimmie, if I were you, I'd take Annie down home now, see that she gets a good night's sleep—she'll be more able to handle things in the morning." He looked away from Annie, who seemed ready to say something. "Mrs. Dowling," he said clearly to a woman across the room. "Can you stay here tonight?"

"I'll be glad to, Doc."

With the whole room-full watching, listening, Annie could do nothing but let Jimmie put his arm around her shoulder, lead her out to his car.

Fred led an exodus of the visitors. Mrs. Dowling, with Tom Martin at her side, watched the cars depart.

"I take it," said Murphy, groaning as he stretched his legs in the car, "that the woman in pink is Martin's widow?"

"Yes," said Fred.

"And that she's the kind to make an ell out of an inch?"

"She's a good woman, Murph." He turned the car toward town. "Annie and Jim—the accident will be a shadow, but it won't have ruined things."

"Thanks to you. Though I doubt if you get any."

Fred glanced at him. "I doubt if I want any. In the first place, I suspect that I was the only one to see what might have developed."

"I think Jimmie had a faint notion."

"He's a nice boy."

"You think he can take over now? Or will you have to go on playing God?"

Fred grunted.

"Want me to drive, Fritz? You must be tired."

"I am tired, but I'll sleep. I'm afraid I haven't done much to entertain you, Murph."

"I've been entertained. Don't fret about that."

"You and Mamma..."

"I know how to protect myself there. I stay clean away from Mamma."

Fred chuckled. "She'll leave at the end of the week."

"I'll have to go then, myself."

"Kylie much better?"

"He's conscious, if that's better. Been really better if he'd died, wouldn't it?"

"Why?"

"Let me ask why. Why don't you play a little game there?"

"I don't agree that I play God at all. In some circumstances, perhaps I have the ability or the imagination to look ahead, and then endeavor to clear the path of the future where and how I can."

Any man of understanding and foresight could do the same thing."

"Looks to me as if you have enough to do without that sort of defying. And it's none of your business, really, whether Annie Martin is wife, or maid."

"But I think it is my business! Annie has done what she can for her brothers and sisters. Anything further would be—too much, and not good for anyone concerned. Now she should be having her own family; she'll have a good one, and raise them into proper citizens."

"And she wouldn't, without you?"

"Oh, she might have. That's why I say I don't play God. At the best, I look at myself as an instrument."

"Of God?"

"I believe in God, Murph."

Tourneys Starting To Take Toll

COLUMBUS (P) — Ohio's high school basketball tournament trail has started taking its toll.

In last night's contests the defending Class B champion, New Lexington St. Aloysius, bowed out along with hitherto unbeaten Findlay and Shelby in Class A.

New Lexington dropped a 43-41 verdict to Rio Grande, the fifth-rated Class B club.

Findlay, rated right behind Columbus East in the Class A list and boasting 20 straight wins, was dumped, 46-45, by Lima Central. Shelby, in ninth place in the final poll with 19 straight conquests, was a 59-55 victim of Ashland.

East Liverpool, which moved into eighth place in the ratings with a late spurge, was eliminated, 67-45, by Steubenville's Big Red.

More district qualifiers will be named tonight in a far-flung wind-up of sectional play.

District play next week will slash both the Class A and Class B divisions to 16 teams for regional tournaments the following week. From the regionals, four in each division will emerge for the state finals in Cincinnati, March 25-26.

Giants, Bums Exchange New Pleasantries

Old Bosom Buddies Take Stock Of Other Fellow's Weaknesses

The Associated Press
Proving that distance is no barrier when old bosom buddies feel like exchanging a few pleasantries, the Dodgers and Giants have hooked up in a transcontinental lovers' quarrel to enliven the spring training air.

Giant Manager Leo Durocher, as you might expect, touched off the spat. After all, it's spring training for him too.

"Brooklyn's in trouble if (Jackie) Robinson, (Pee Wee) Reese or (Roy) Campanella doesn't play," Leo cooed from the world champion's training site in Phoenix, Ariz.

Irked, Dodger Vice - Presidents Buzzy Bavasi and Fresno Thompson—with a surprising assist from silent Walt Alston—hurled a cross-country love note back into Leo's ear from their Vero Beach, Fla., camp.

Summed up, their sentiments read something like this: "The Giant bench is lousy, one of the louisiest in baseball. Dusty Rhodes is all they got. We can go blindfolded among our second-string outfielders and pick better ones than they have."

Duke Snider and the Dodger batboy also got into the act. Snider, peeved at comparisons between Willie Mays and himself, announced that until wonderful Willie passes him in the income tax bracket, he'll consider himself the better ballplayer.

The bat boy, Charlie Digiovanna, added a Durocher jibe as a footnote. "It looks like skinhead has his mouth in shape for the season already."

Noise of the more orthodox variety—ball meeting bat and ball meeting glove—echoed around other camps.

The most encouraging news came from West Palm Beach where the Kansas City Athletics enjoyed a double dose. Bobby Shantz, benched most of last year with a chronic soreness in his left arm, put his valuable flipper through a 10-minute test run and reported it felt "loose and free."

Jim Finigan, the A's fine sophomore third baseman, signed his contract to end a short-lived hold-out.

Eddie Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves belted a couple 420-foot drives and said he was hoping to get off to a fast start this year in the home run derby.

Manager Casey Stengel conceded Cleveland had a better pitching staff than the Yankees. Stengel said his main problem is to find a No. 4 starter after Whitey Ford, Bob Grim and Bob Turley.

Chuck Dressen, Washington Senator field general toyed with the idea of shifting Eddie Yost, a veteran of 10 years, from third base to the outfield. But Paul Richards decided not to tamper with Oriole pitcher Dee Pillette's unusual "sinkerball" motion.

All the teams prepared for intrasquad games as a prelude to next week's first scheduled exhibitions.

Mickey Mantle In Trim, To Be Yankee Asset Again

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—For the first time since his knee buckled under him while he was racing for a fly ball in the 1951 World Series, Mickey Mantle is back in complete physical trim for the start of a big league campaign. It is an important item to keep in mind in assessing the Yankees' chances of returning to their accustomed spot overlooking the rest of the American League.

Although a cluster of years have sped past since the Oklahoma phenom broke in amid a salvo of superlatives and he has four full seasons behind him, he still is only 23. There is yet time for Mickey to live up to his lurid billing as the new Joe DiMaggio, and if this is the year he does it the Cleveland Indians may find their reign cut short.

A Mantle hitting around .340,

which was considered his potential in the midst of estimates a few years back, and coming up back to back with catcher Yogi Berra, would give the Bombers the most deadly attack in either league. Given that, Casey Stengel could largely forget about the retirement of pitcher Allie Reynolds and the slowing legs of shortstop Phil Rizzuto.

After undergoing two operations on his right knee, Mantle reported late last spring and got away to a slow and uncertain start. The hard Stengel grew extremely cool toward the boy. Mickey became even more silent and moody than usual under the lash of criticism.

By snapping out of his apparent lethargy past midseason and finishing strong, the speedy switch hitter managed to post a final mark of .300, with 27 home runs and 102 runs batted in. While these figures were commendable—would, in fact, be relished by most players—they were not what the Yankees had permitted themselves to expect from their wonder kid. Besides, Mickey struck out 107 times, leading both leagues in that specialty.

OSU Tankers Challenged By Michigan

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State was barely hanging on to the Western Conference swimming championship today at the halfway mark in the 45th annual meet.

Michigan's Wolverines, with four victories in the first seven events were only a point behind, 57 to 58, as the natators went into today's final seven tests.

No one else was close as the two gladiators battled it out. Iowa had 20 points, Michigan State 17, Purdue 11, Indiana 6, Wisconsin 4 and Illinois 3, with Minnesota and Northwestern shut out.

Jack Wardrop, one of the Wolverine twins from Motherswell, Scotland, and Jim Walters of Kenilworth, Ill., came up with last night's startling performances.

Wardrop wheeled through the 220-yard freestyle in 2:03.4 to shear 1.3 seconds off the world record set a year ago by Ford Konno, Ohio State's Hawaiian star, as Konno finished second in 2:05.

Walters, showing superb form, piled up 522.25 points to win the 1-meter diving event as Morley Shapiro, Ohio's defending champion, finished third behind teammate Fletcher Gilders. It was the first time since 1944 that Ohio State had lost a Big Ten springboard event, and was only the second such loss since 1937 at either the high or low boards.

Big Five Harness Group Formed

COLUMBUS (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown yesterday issued a non-profit corporation charter to Big Five, Inc., Delaware, Ohio, an organization to sponsor harness horse races.

Incorporation papers said the organization would sponsor races at member tracks listed as: Illinois State Fair, Missouri State Fair, Indiana State Fair, Duquoin Illinois State Fair, and Delaware County Fair in Ohio.

Trustees were listed as: E. A. Duensing of Jefferson City, Mo.; Orville Miller, Elkhart, Ind.; Lander Van Gundy, Normal, Ill.; E. J. Hayes, Duquoin, Ill., and Joseph A. Neville, Delaware, Ohio.

Old Bosom Buddies Take Stock Of Other Fellow's Weaknesses

Proving that distance is no barrier when old bosom buddies feel like exchanging a few pleasantries, the Dodgers and Giants have hooked up in a transcontinental lovers' quarrel to enliven the spring training air.

"Brooklyn's in trouble if (Jackie) Robinson, (Pee Wee) Reese or (Roy) Campanella doesn't play," Leo cooed from the world champion's training site in Phoenix, Ariz.

Summed up, their sentiments read something like this: "The Giant bench is lousy, one of the louisiest in baseball. Dusty Rhodes is all they got. We can go blindfolded among our second-string outfielders and pick better ones than they have."

Duke Snider and the Dodger bat-boy also got into the act. Snider, peeved at comparisons between Willie Mays and himself, announced that until wonderful Willie passes him in the income tax bracket, he'll consider himself the better ballplayer.

The bat boy, Charlie Digiovanna, added a Durocher jibe as a footnote. "It looks like kinhead has his mouth in shape for the season already."

Manager Casey Stengel conceded Cleveland had a better pitching staff than this Yankees. Stengel said his main problem is to find a No. 4 starter after Whitey Ford, Bob Grim and Bob Turley.

Chuck Dressen, Washington Senator field general toyed with the idea of shifting Eddie Yost, a veteran of 10 years, from third base to the outfield. But Paul Richards decided not to tamper with Oriole pitcher Dee Pillette's unusual "sinkerball" motion.

All the teams prepared for intrasquad games as a prelude to next week's first scheduled exhibitions.

Mickey Mantle In Trim, To Be Yankee Asset Again

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—For the first time since his knee buckled under him while he was racing for a fly ball in the 1951 World Series, Mickey Mantle is back in complete physical trim for the start of a big league campaign. It is an important item to keep in mind in assessing the Yankees' chances of returning to their accustomed spot overlooking the rest of the American League.

Although a cluster of years have sped past since the Oklahoma phenom broke in amid a salvo of superlatives and he has four full seasons behind him, he still is only 23. There is yet time for Mickey to live up to his lurid billing as the new Joe DiMaggio, and if this is the year he does it the Cleveland Indians may find their reign cut short.

A Mantle hitting 'around .340,

which was considered his potential in the midst of estimates a few years back, and coming up back to back with catcher Yogi Berra, would give the Bombers the most deadly attack in either league. Given that, Casey Stengel could largely forget about the retirement of pitcher Allie Reynolds and the slowing legs of shortstop Phil Rizzuto.

After undergoing two operations on his right knee, Mantle reported late last spring and got away to a slow and uncertain start. The hard and Stengel grew extremely cool toward the boy. Mickey became even more silent and moody than usual under the lash of criticism.

By snapping out of his apparent lethargy past midseason and finishing strong, the speedy switch hitter managed to post a final mark of .300, with 27 home runs and 102 runs batted in. While these figures were commendable—would, in fact, be relished by most players—they were not what the Yankees had permitted themselves to expect from their wonder kid. Besides, Mickey struck out 107 times, leading both leagues in that specialty.

OSU Tankers Challenged By Michigan

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State was barely hanging on to the Western Conference swimming championship today at the halfway mark in the 45th annual meet.

Michigan's Wolverines, with four victories in the first seven events were only a point behind, 57 to 58, as the natators went into today's final seven tests.

No one else was close as the two goliaths battled it out. Iowa had 20 points, Michigan State 17, Purdue 11, Indiana 6, Wisconsin 4 and Illinois 3, with Minnesota and Northwestern shut out.

Jack Wardrop, one of the Wolverine twins from Mowbray, Scotland, and Jim Walters of Kenilworth, Ill., came up with last night's startling performances.

Wardrop wheeled through the 220-yard freestyle in 2:03.4 to shear 1.3 seconds off the world record set a year ago by Ford Konno, Ohio State's Hawaiian star, as Konno finished second in 2:05.

Walters, showing superb form, piled up 522.25 points to win the 1-meter diving event as Morley Shapiro, Ohio's defending champion, finished third behind teammate Fletcher Gilders. It was the first time since 1944 that Ohio State had lost a Big Ten springboard event, and was only the second such loss since 1937 at either the high or low boards.

Trustees were listed as: E. A. Duensing of Jefferson City, Mo.; Orville Miller, Elkhart, Ind.; Lander Van Gundy, Normal, Ill.; E. J. Hayes, Duquoin, Ill., and Joseph A. Neville, Delaware, Ohio.

Auditor's Report Praises Pickaway County School Boards

Discrepancies Are Noticeable In 2 Districts

Remarks In Report Indicate Records Kept In Fine Shape

Pickaway County school boards were given "a good grade" as the result of a recent report by the state auditor's department.

Most of the boards were lauded for keeping their minutes and records in good condition. Although there are a few discrepancies, for the most part the report was very complimentary.

In the Madison Township Local School District, the report noted a misunderstanding in the lunch fund. Receipts and expenses were carried as separate accounts but should have been included elsewhere.

Apparently the instructions were misunderstood, the report added.

HOWEVER, a discrepancy has been reported in the Muhlenberg Local School District. The report states:

"The district borrowed $2,500 from the Scioto Bank on Sept. 14, 1937 in anticipation of tax collections and failed to retire the note. On Dec. 12, 1939, the Scioto Bank withdrew without authority the sum of $2,723.70 from the funds of this district to pay the principal and interest on the note.

"On Nov. 28, 1952, this board borrowed $3,900 from the Scioto Bank. The balance as of July 7, 1954 was $3,300.

"The records disclose that, at the date this money was borrowed, there was only one receipt due the board that year . . . a check in the amount of $964.41.

"However, according to law, only one half the $964.41 could have been legally borrowed on Nov. 28, 1952 and the amount borrowed should have been paid off in less than six months.

"FROM THE history of the bank loans . . . no attention whatsoever has been paid to the provisions of law relative to a board of education borrowing money. Hundreds of dollars of illegal interest have been paid and probably more will be paid before this last loan is paid in full."

The auditor's report also took a dim view of some bus purchases by the Walnut Township Local School Board. The report cites a discrepancy of $1,200 "which the board should fully investigate to determine if an overpayment has been made."

The report shows that two buses were purchased by a Cincinnati firm. According to the report, the board paid in $4,800 although only a balance of $3,600 was due.

Also, the report notes that the board has made "bonus" payments to its employees. In December of 1952, the report states, "these 'bonus' payments amounted to $1,120."

The report notes that this practice is "an unhealthy situation, against public policy . . . and should be discontinued. There is nothing illegal about raising an employee's salary during his or her period of employment."

Although there were other special notations in the report, the entire county school system was praised for its bookkeeping and record keeping.

'Whitey' Dahl Wins In Appeal

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—Harold "Whitey" Dahl, American flier, was ordered released in bond of $4,500 yesterday pending a new trial on gold theft charges. Gold, worth $33,000, disappeared from a Swissair passenger plane Dahl was piloting from Paris to Geneva in October 1953.

Convicted in December, he was sentenced to two years in prison. Dahl's attorney contended before the Geneva Court of Appeals that the gold had been confided to the custody of Dahl as pilot of the plane. Dahl, he told the court, could not be tried for stealing something already in his possession.

Ballots Being Sent Out To Armed Forces

County boards of elections have started mailing ballots for the May 3 primaries to members of the armed services, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said.

Applications for armed service absentee voter primary ballots could be made as early as January 1, Brown said, but under the Ohio laws, March 4 was the first day ballots could be mailed. Applications may be received by the boards of elections until 12 noon, April 30.

But Secretary Brown, who prescribed the Republican and Democratic ballots earlier than required by law in order to give more time for the ballots to travel to service men and women, urged them to make applications early. Ballots must be in the offices of the Boards by noon election day.

The law also established March 4 as the earliest date civilians outside the continental United States could make application for primary absentee voter ballots. April 3 is the date on which disabled persons or civilian absentee voters in the United States may make their applications.

BROWN CALLED attention to the fact that not all municipalities will hold primary elections. He also said that many persons do not understand that actually there are two separate elections on May 3 — a Republican primary and a Democratic primary — and that those asking for ballots must make known their preference.

Those voting on special issues, such as bond issues, tax levies, etc., only, are not required to designate their political affiliation.

Crazy Otto, Off-Tune Piano Creating Musical Acclaim

BERLIN, March 12 (AP)—Crazy Otto knows how to pound the most out of an out-of-tune piano. He's thumping one right into a solid career as a top jazz pianist both in West Germany and the United States.

West Germans call him "Der Schraege Otto" (Slanting Otto), a name he thought up himself—but disk-happy fans in the United States have dubbed him just plain crazy.

This 42-year-old musician-composer has a real name—Fritz Schultz-Reichel—but his knack for taking popular songs and turning them into ear-catching records with an out-of-tune piano just doesn't seem to fit it.

His recipe is simple: "I bend the tune into what you call the honky-tonk style. I decided long ago it's not what you do that counts, but how you do it." Exactly how he does it is a secret. Otto says only that his piano is tuned higher than it should be.

He recently returned from a "concert" tour of Norway, Sweden and Denmark. He reports he stirred up a sensation.

"I was the horror of all piano tuners," Otto says. "I just couldn't make myself understood. They thought I was crazy when I took my key out of my pocket and started doctoring the piano."

In Berlin, when making records, Otto always uses the ancient piano which brought him fame. The piano is owned by a dealer who has suddenly discovered its importance. He refuses to sell, and has cheerfully announced:

"You have to pay rent every time you want it."

Otto discovered the piano during a 1953 recording session for a radio station. The director had rented the battered old instrument because he wanted to create the

Judge Harlan Controversy Still Brewing

Senate Probers Book Vote On Nomination For Next Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nearly four months have passed since President Eisenhower nominated Judge John Marshall Harlan, of New York, to be a Supreme Court justice.

Adding another to the series of delays, the Senate Judiciary Committee met yesterday without acting on the nomination. Instead, it set next Wednesday for a vote on whether to recommend Senate confirmation.

What held up Senate action so long on the appointment of the 55-year-old lawyer—especially when no one questioned his integrity or his legal ability?

The shift in control of Congress from Republicans to Democrats was one reason. The Judiciary Committee had to reorganize. But of more importance was a controversy that sprang up reminiscent of the angry Senate battle last year over the proposed constitutional amendment—of Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) to curb treaty powers.

It dealt with Harlan's views on world government and on whether treaties might override the United States Constitution and state laws. It was raised by his membership on the National Advisory Council of the Atlantic Union Committee. Harlan denied he was a "one-worlder," and said he did not favor any surrender of American sovereignty. He said he had not been active in the Atlantic Union group, and had not even paid dues.

Suggestions also have been advanced that this controversy was seized on by some Southerners on the Judiciary Committee who wanted to avoid raising the school segregation issue. This the Southern senators denied.

Harlan is the grandson and namesake of a Supreme Court justice who wrote a vigorous dissent in an 1896 decision upholding the doctrine of separate but equal facilities for the races.

That doctrine, first applied to transportation, also affected schools until last year when the Supreme Court unanimously outlawed racial segregation in the public schools.

In the Judiciary Committee's hearings on the nomination, concluded a week ago, Sen. Eastland (D-Miss) asked Harlan if he thought the Supreme Court should change established interpretations of the Constitution in accordance with the economic, political or sociological views of judges on the court.

With a smile, and taking off his spectacles, Harlan answered: "To lay that question bare, you are asking me how I would have voted on the segregation case if I had been a member of the court?"

Eastland insisted he was just asking a general question and dropped the subject.

The court has been without its full membership since the death of Justice Robert H. Jackson last October and, while waiting for the vacancy to be filled, has postponed arguments on how and when its ruling in the school segregation case is to be put into effect.

Harlan had been confirmed by the Senate—in February 1954—for his present job as a judge of the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New York when Eisenhower decided to elevate him to the Supreme Court. Spokesmen for the American Bar Assn. and the New York State Bar Assn. hailed the appointment.

A member of a prominent law firm in New York City, Harlan had wide experience as a trial lawyer before he went on the bench. He also had been counsel for the New York State Crime Commission.

The four youths testified they put the tie on the tracks as a "prank." But Lake County officials testified that in earlier statements the four told of planning to wreck the train and rob the passengers.

Each youth got a three-year prison term. They are Ronald E. Davis, 21, of Perry; Eugene King, 19, of Painesville; key A. Cottrell, 18, of Perry; and Ronald Peterson, 20, of Geneva.

atmosphere of an oceanfront bar. During a break, Otto did some improvising. The director suddenly rushed over and shouted: "Man, we've got to make a record of that!"

They did, and Der Schraege Otto was born. Otto says he adopted the alias because he didn't want his regular fans to know he was turning out such peculiar music. "I thought it might irritate them," he says.

Otto got his start in the early 30s in a small orchestra which played in bars. He received little recognition until the 1936 Berlin Olympics when an American jazz critic gave him favorable notice.

During World War II, Otto fought with the wehrmacht on the Russian front and was wounded in Poland during the 1944 retreat. A shell splinter ripped open his right hand, and he feared his piano career might be at an end.

The arm and hand remained stiff for months, but were gradually unlimbered by constant exercise.

Otto's talents aren't limited to playing the piano. Two songs he composed are well known in the United States: "The Man With the Banjo," recorded by the Ames Brothers and "It Worries Me," by Frank Sinatra.

Otto now is planning his biggest project yet: a barnstorming tour of the United States later this year.

"Let the customer be a statesman, too. Why not? What harm can it do? So when she talks about Pakistan, it sounds like she is talking about Minnesota. Does it hurt anybody? Is she worse than the real, genuine statesmen who don't know on Thursday what they said on Tuesday?"

"As long as the customers buy, we all live. Is it worse than in the Depression when a customer was a novelty? I ask you."

"I'll be seeing you, Sam," I said to close the conversation.

"Maybe you could change your 1937 ice-box for a new model with a freezing compartment and a place for eggs? Because you're a reactionary, do you have to be old-fashioned? Look! For you I will make a special price, but don't tell anybody. I'll give you the relative's price."

"I'll see you soon, Sam," I said as I plowed into a stuffed derma.

Judge Harlan Controversy Still Brewing

Senate Probers Book Vote On Nomination For Next Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nearly four months have passed since President Eisenhower nominated Judge John Marshall Harlan, of New York, to be a Supreme Court justice.

Adding another to the series of delays, the Senate Judiciary Committee met yesterday without acting on the nomination. Instead, it set next Wednesday for a vote on whether to recommend Senate confirmation.

What held up Senate action so long on the appointment of the 55-year-old lawyer—especially when no one questioned his integrity or his legal ability?

The shift in control of Congress from Republicans to Democrats was one reason. The Judiciary Committee had to reorganize.

But of more importance was a controversy that sprang up reminiscent of the angry Senate battle last year over the proposed constitutional amendment of Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) to curb treaty powers.

It dealt with Harlan's views on world government and on whether treaties might override the United States Constitution and state laws. It was raised by his membership on the National Advisory Council of the Atlantic Union Committee. Harlan denied he was a "one-worlder," and said he did not favor any surrender of American sovereignty. He said he had not been active in the Atlantic Union group, and had not even paid dues.

Suggestions also have been advanced that this controversy was seized on by some Southerners on the Judiciary Committee who wanted to avoid raising the school segregation issue. This the Southern senators denied.

Harlan is the grandson and namesake of a Supreme Court justice who wrote a vigorous dissent in an 1896 decision upholding the doctrine of separate but equal facilities for the races.

That doctrine, first applied to transportation, also affected schools until last year when the Supreme Court unanimously outlawed racial segregation in the public schools.

In the Judiciary Committee's hearings on the nomination, concluded a week ago, Sen. Eastland (D - Miss) asked Harlan if he thought the Supreme Court should change established interpretations of the Constitution in accordance with the economic, political or sociological views of judges on the court.

With a smile, and taking off his spectacles, Harlan answered: "To lay that question bare, you are asking me how I would have voted on the segregation case if I had been a member of the court?"

Eastland insisted he was just asking a general question and dropped the subject.

The court has been without its full membership since the death of Justice Robert H. Jackson last October and, while waiting for the vacancy to be filled, has postponed arguments on how and when its ruling in the school segregation case is to be put into effect.

Harlan had been confirmed by the Senate—in February 1954—for his present job as a judge of the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New York when Eisenhower decided to elevate him to the Supreme Court. Spokesmen for the American Bar Assn. and the New York State Bar Assn. hailed the appointment.

A member of a prominent law firm in New York City, Harlan had wide experience as a trial lawyer before he went on the bench. He also had been counsel for the New York State Crime Commission.
